I'm a front-end developer & entrepreneur who has launched products for web and mobile web. My experience bridges design, development and product management to deliver user experiences that add value and increase engagement.

Experience

Stash - Founder & CEO

July '16 - Present

Stash is a saving tool for designers and developers. I'm the team's product manager, primary front-end programmer and business lead. We're running two week SCRUM sprints to build out a minimum viable product using React and Ruby on Rails. (Coming soon at muststash.io)

Vumble - Founder & CEO

Dec '13 - June '16

Vumble.com is the leaderboard for online video and my first startup. During my journey I learned how to code, design, and lead a tech team through the product development cycle. We built a faster way to discover YouTube videos with a user base of over 50,000 people.

Washington Talent Agency - Photographer

Sep '13 - Present

Event photography capturing candids and operating professional photo stations. I'm responsible for managing client relationships, executing photoshoots, and editing photos.

Dingman Center for Entrepreneurship - Design Intern

Jan '12 - June '13

The University of Maryland's Entrepreneurship Center. I was in charge of designing graphics for marketing campaigns and running the organization's social media account.

Facetime Strategy - Marketing Intern

May '12 - Sep '12

A digital marketing agency with Fortune 500 clients. During my experience I conducted market research, developed marketing proposals, and created content for client social media accounts.
